

Set up your portable instrument communication with the computer

Determine in advance which port to use for communication between the portable instrument and the computer.

1. Connect your portable instrument to the correct port on the computer.
2. In Housekeeping Setup, click Instrument and then select the Remote Portable Instrument port you used for the instrument connection.
3. Click Main Menu when finished.

Launch Portable Instrument in the

Select the sample color

This screen lists color samples found in the database location you selected in the previous screen.

-

Choose the portable instrument function you want to perform

Use these functions to work

Working with Portable Instrument

Working with Portable Instrument

Working with Portable Instrument

Manage Data Names